Notes relating to documentary evidence:-

1. In 1769, Lord Milton commissioned William Woodward to map and survey his newly purchased estate of the Manor of Abbots Wootton. The previous owner being Mr Henley (d1768). The map and survey are now held in the Dorset History Centre Map (D.1/11704) & Survey (D-WFP/1/1?). Hardown Hill appears to have been "waste of the manor" or common grazing land and William Woodward comments that Mr Henley had allowed squatter occupation of the hill. The colour coding of the map indicates:
Green – boundary of the hill.
Red – land enclosed within the last 20 years.
Yellow – land enclosed for greater than 20 years.
The map depicts two roads across the hill that broadly coincide with the present day roads of the claim.
3. Tithe Map, Hardown (Hatton) Hill is apportionment No.316. This referred to as "Sundries" no owner or tenant is listed.
4. Tithe Map, showing which of the routes depicted in 1844 are now part of the public highways network.
7. 1910 Finance Act Map, apart from a small section at (B) shown as not assessable. The small section, coincides with land gifted to the National Trust by Mrs Angela Scott-Nicholson in 1967. The Trust online mapping show the lane as outside their holding.
9. Capture (13/2/2020) from the LR Inspire mapping shows lanes as unregistered.
